TORONTO'S RICH VARIETY OF TREE SPECIES

Toronto's varied topography supports a wide range of tree species. The trees pictured here are commonly found throughout our parks, natural areas and on our streets. Though common now, they are not native to Toronto but are imports from elsewhere. These species would be unfamiliar to the earliest settlers. As these non-native trees reach the end of their lifespan, Forestry Services may replace them with native trees in natural park areas.

- Linden
- Norway Maple
- Horse Chestnut
- Norway Spruce
- Tree of Heaven
- Ginkgo

DISCOVER TORONTO'S WILDLIFE

Toronto's parks and natural areas provide habitat for a surprisingly wide range of wildlife. The native wildlife pictured here are frequently seen in the city. These same wildlife species would have also been encountered here by the earliest settlers.

- Great Blue Heron
- Midland Painted Turtles
- White Tailed Deer
- Red Fox
- Beaver
- Monarch Butterflies
